PRIVATE PARADISE

Deep in the fringe of the Yalgorup National Park, hidden among the tuart forest on a secluded piece of South West coast is WAs best kept secret a private residential estate of just 31 blocks, about 26 houses, a locked gate and a caretaker.

Pamelup Estate, just north of Myalup, between Bunbury and Mandurah offers its scarce resident population and regular but tiny number of holiday makers a secluded piece of paradise that feels like it is almost untouched by the outside world.

Pamelups overwhelming sense of peace and quiet is truly captivating.

The tranquility is of course best enjoyed when your every creature comfort is also accommodated.

Lot 25 is a limestone brick and green Colorbond construction with a wide veranda right the way round.

The main entrance is via double glass doors into a massive and breath-taking central living area where all those windows and glass doors combine with a soaring timber lined ceiling
